

State of Mental Illness in the Work Place

The Partnership for Workplace Mental Health estimates that mental illness and substance abuse annually cost employers between $80 to $100 billion in indirect costs alone.

The World Health Organization (WHO) predicts that by 2020, depression alone will cause more days of work loss and work impairment than any other illness.

Mental illness causes more days of work loss and work impairment than any other chronic health conditions, including arthritis, asthma, back pain, diabetes, hypertension and heart disease.

More than 80% of employees treated for mental illness report improved levels of work efficacy, productivity and satisfaction.

Learn more at www.davidwoodsbartley.com and connect with us on social media

@DavidWoodsBartley

facebook.com/DavidWoodsBartley

pinterest.com/davidwbartley

DAVID WOODS BARTLEY